MANY PUZZLES

IN SELECTING CITIES FOR '28

San Francisco Makes Strong Bid for Republican National Convention

WETS WANT LARGE CITY
Eastern Businessmen Dislike Idea of Leaving Affairs to Go West

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1927, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Selection of a convention city is a good deal more of a thorn in the side of the political leaders of both parties than appears on the surface.

The Democrats who favor Governor Smith want some large city like Chicago or St. Louis where the wetness in the atmosphere will make the crowd sympathetic to their candidate.
The Republicans realize that a convention in an eastern city will not help to reconcile the factional differences which have arisen between the east and the west.

Cities like Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Baltimore and San Francisco are being talked of for the Democratic convention, with strong desire on the part of the dry forces to select Cleveland.

As for the Republicans, San Francisco is making a strong bid for the convention on the theory that it would have a psychological effect on the entire west if the Republican party came across the continent to the golden state. The Democrats had a very satisfactory convention in California in 1924 and reports of that event have been conveyed to the Republican managers who know also that San Francisco will put up as big a contribution as any city in order to get the convention.

"GO WEST, BUSINESSMAN"

Eastern businessmen who often comprise most of the delegation at the party to be away for a week or ten days but this objection is being answered in many instances with the suggestion that many of the eastern-ers and their families have never been west.

From the standpoint of Herbert Hoover a convention in San Francisco could be an advantage because California is known to be behind its favorite son. This may influence the friends of the other candidates, especially those of the former Governor Lowden and Vice President Dawes who would prefer naturally to see the Republican convention in Chicago. The Democrats know that Chicago will be a contender for the opportunity to take care of the Democratic convention, but so far as the anti-Smith forces are concerned they think Chicago would be as embarrassing
as New York in the past.

The city of Washington has a new auditorium and wouldn't mind getting either convention but the politicians have usually shied away from the idea of holding a national convention in the capital. This may not be as much of an objection for the Republicans this time, particularly if it is an assured fact that President Coolidge is not going to be drafted. Under either circumstance, however, the fact that to hold a Republican convention at the doorstep of the White House during a Republican administration would appear to be executive dictation. The Democrats, on the other hand, would have no such objection and the national capital is therefore neutral ground for them and might be particularly convenient if congress finances the hotel just a few days before the Democrats are scheduled to begin in June.

MAY FAVOR NEW YORK

If it is likely that Governor Smith will be the Democratic nominee there may be Republicans who think that the convention might well be held in New York state as a means of stirring up the local Republican leaders for the forthcoming campaign. There are many cities in New York state which have large armories with sufficient capacity to hold the convention but the hotel facilities are not always adequate. The last national convention at Cleveland was handled so well that a number of Republican leaders would like to see the convention go there again.

Each convention city must arise a sufficient fund to guarantee to arise in the usual expenses incurred. Some in the neighborhood of $200,000 have been required to get a place in the race for a convention city. These amounts are in the main subscribed for by hotels and business associations anxious to entertain the visiting delegates and their families.

IOWA SENATOR HAS NEW PLAN FOR FARM AID

Brookhart Proposal Is Compromise on McNary-Haugen Measure

BULLETIN

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Opposition flared Friday within the ranks of the newly-organized group of western Republican senators to the proposal to eliminate the equalization fee provision for the McNary-Haugen farm bill in a substitute under consideration.

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The newly-formed group of five western Republican senators who have united in the hope of solving legislative problems peculiar to their section, was called together Friday for a discussion of that stumbling block of the last congress, agricultural relief.

In the nature of a compromise, a new farm bill has been under preparation by Senator Brookhart of Iowa, a guiding spirit in the movement. It would replace the converted equalization fee of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill with direct government appropriations offering this concession in the hope of winning the approval of Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the group who opposed the Mc-Nary-Haugen bill because of the fee provision.

PROVIDES FOR SURPLUS

Brookhart's tentative bill would include all crops as well as the few named in the McNary-Haugen measure and would have surplus administered by a governmental agency.

Anxious for a farm bill it can approve, thereby removing an important issue of the coming political campaign in the west, the administration is watching closely. The little band, which is addition to Brookhart and Borah, already included Nyce and Franzier of North Dakota, and Norris of Nebraska, had hopes Friday of increasing its ranks. Senator McMaster of South Dakota, was invited to attend.

"AVERAGE MAN" GOES TO

CHICAGO TO SEE SIGHTS

Chicago.—(P)—Roy L. Gray of Fort Madison, Lee Co., Iowa, America's
"average man" has come to Chicago for a couple of days to give the big town the once over, meet some of the boys, take a peep, maybe, at the night life, and find out if Chicago hasn't a few "average" citizens of her own.

Gray who owns a one-man clothing store in Fort Madison, was picked as America's "average man" in an intensive survey of the country published in the American magazine. Iowa was found to approximate most nearly the "average" state and Fort Madison the average city. The folks in Fort Madison themselves picked Gray as being most representative of them all and therefore as being the "average man."

EXPECT GRANGE TO PLAY

IN PACKER GRID GAME

Green Bay.—(P)—If recent injuries do not interfere "Red" Grange will make his debut as a professional footballer on a Wisconsin gridiron
Sunday when he and his New York Knickerbocker team are to meet the local Packers team.

The former "galloping ghost" was injured last Sunday while playing the "Chicago Bears," but it is thought that he will have recovered enough to participate in the game Sunday. The Packers with second place on the National league standing, promise stiff opposition for the Yanks, being drilled thoroughly in passing attacks during the week.

Chenango, Mich.—(P)—A $250 rewhereabouts of Lawrence Blaney, missing county game warden, was offered Thursday by John Blaney, Chenango

other relatives of Blaney believe him murdered.

Dane-co Farm Secretary Denounces "Experts" Who Hamstring Progress

Madison.—(P)—Dane-co's farm bureau secretary, H. L. McMurry, denounced "experts" of the state agricultural college and the state department of markets in connection with his assertion that "Wisconsin is trailing the entire nation in cooperative marketing farm progress." In an interview published Friday by the Capital Times.

College of agriculture officials who recently joined in tribute to Henry Krumrey founder of the Wisconsin
Cheese Producers federation at memorial exercises here "are the same men who were doing their utmost against him during his lifetime," Mc-Murry said in the interview.

"They who stoned the prophet are now turned worshippers," he said, "is because they have succeeded in ham-stringing his organization so that it is no longer dangerous to the great cheese merchants of the state that they are now able to approve it."

SCORES MI ROHANT PRINCES

He gives the following factors as responsible for lackwaddiness of cooperative marketing in Wisconsin:

"There has been developed a class of merchant princes, well-organized and inalterably opposed to any movement which might lead to successful cooperative marketing."

"The experts at the department of markets and university department of agricultural economics side-track farmers into the formation of weak and ineffective cooperatives."

"The ignorance and apathy of farmers, who have allowed themselves to be so side-tracked."

According to United States Department of Agriculture figure, he cites Wisconsin is third in the total number of small cooperatives but twenty-fifth in the number members enrolled in large powerful organizations. He held up the Northern Wisconsin bureau as being an exemplary of the successful cooperative movement in the state.

"A display of plans for dairy marketing cooperation issued from the university and department of market for the last ten years will present an interesting crazy quilt," the interview quotes him as saying.

RUSSIAN KILLS WIFE OF

AMERICAN IN FRENCH CITY

Nice, France.—(P)—Captain Wenc-las de Krupell, described as a former officer in the Russian imperial guard, was under arrest charged with the murder of a French wife of an American whom he met through their joint membership in "back to nature" cult.

After the body of the victim, Mme.
Marcelle Lord, wife of Horace W.
Lord, of Fall River, Mass., was discovered, police instituted search for de Krupell, who was known to have been attentive to the woman. He was arrested near the scene as he attempted to visit a friend of Mme.
Lord. De Krupell confessed to the police said that he had killed Mme. Lord when she attempted to prevent him from committing suicide.
He did not remember how he had killed her.

Lounsbury, 51, chief surgeon for the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul was killed Friday in an automobile collision. Dr. Lounsbury also was founder of the staff of Washington

Sulzward hospital here.

The surgeon's machine was turned over and he was caught under the wreckage. He was dead when passersby reached him. The driver of other machine Benjamin Westman 29, a salesman, was held pending an investigation.

Dr. Lounsbury had been chief sur-

1924. He was born in Watertown,
Wis. where he spent his boyhood.

surgeon of the Pennsylvania railroad since 1914. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1902.

UPSHAW DENIES ABUSE

OF FRANKING PRIVILEGE

Madison.—(P)—A complaint made to the postal department that he abused the franking privilege as a member of congress, met with emphatic denial Friday by William D. Upshaw, former representative from Georgia. Here on a lecture tour, the former dry leader in congress, declared that he had not sent franked matter advertising his magazine, The Golden Age, and soliciting subscriptions. He characterized the charge as the "devilish effort on the part of my enemies to injure me."

Civil War Vets Drink To Old Comrades And Disband

Stillwater, Minn.—(P)—Opening a bottle of 40-year-old wine and drinking the last toast to departed comrades, the two surviving members of Company C, Eighth Minnesota, conducted their final meeting and disbanded the club here late Thursday.

Joined by five widows of dead comrades of Indian and Civil war days, Morace Voligney, 91, of Stillwater, and John Blake, 88, of Melton, Wis., met at the home of the former.

The club was formed in 1905 by 26 men who were members of the Company C, which was one of the first Minnesota units called for duty in the early sixties.

Meeting with the veterans were

Mrs. Voligney, Mrs. F. Jarchow, Mrs.
William Gloss, Mrs. William Gallagher, Mrs. Winslow Staples, and Mrs.
David Carmichael, all of Stillwater.

The bottle, which contained the cherished Chateau wine, will be given to the Minnesota State Historical society, as will the flag carried by the company during its engagement. The emblem was made by wives of members of the company before they left for war.

This is the second club of veterans to disband here during the state man's club of Company B, First Minnesota volunteers, conducting its last meeting in July with three veterans attending.

timony brought on an argument over its admissibility, which attorneys said the contention of the defense that the compelling motive of Albert B.

GRAYSON AIRPLANE READY TO HOP OFF

Outlook for Trans-Atlantic
Flight Is Reported Best
Since Monday

Old Orchard, Me.—(P)—The takeoff of the Dawn on its flight 1 Europe was tentatively fixed for 3 o'clock Friday afternoon after the crew had received radio reports from almost a dozen ships at sea.

The outlook was brighter than any time since last Monday for a trans-Atlantic flight by Mrs. Francis W.
Grayson's monoplane, in which she hopes to span the north Atlantic to Copenhagen.

The plane in which she and two companions almost got off to a successful take off the first of the week was nearly ready for a new venture.
All it lacked was a final 100 gallons of gasoline and there was ample time for loading that. Indications were for a favorable tide for take-off from the beach between 1 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

GERMAN PLANE RETURNS
Lisbon, Portugal.—(P)—The itinec-

but a short distance when forced to turn back.

Mr. Davis will have a full-time assistant for clerical duties, in accord-

JUDGE ROSA ASKS CLERKS TO SPEED FILING OF REPORTS

Tax Commission Member Tells of Difficulties Faced by State Officers

Earnest cooperation of city village and town clerks in filing reports with the state tax commission was asked by Judge Charles G. Rosa of the Wisconsin commission in his address Thursday at the annual gathering of Outagamie county clerks. Judge Rosa spoke at a luncheon at the Conway hotel on the subject Duties of Local Clerks.

In asking cooperation of the clerks Judge Rosa said the clerks themselves would reap the biggest benefit in the final analysis. State tax business could be carried on in a more satisfactory manner and communications from commission to clerks handled with greater speed. Judge Rosa said that he often wondered if, after all, it was paid a man to stand public office and if the abuse heaped upon the office holder was offset by any satisfaction the latter received. Some one must do the work, he said, and as long as an office holder could make decisions and carry on with a clear conscience he could rightly feel that there was some reward for the efforts expended.

ENDS ILL FEELING One of the greatest advantages of meetings such as his was addressing Judge Rosa said, was that it gave him a chance to meet face to face the men with whom he has to work. Sometimes cases come up, he said, that tend to create ill feeling between the commission and clerks but when a member of the commission can recall having met the man with whom he is dealing the tenseness of the situation is somewhat alleviated. Cold, formal letters never settle differences, the speaker said.

Everything in the tax commission does is required by law and there are many times when the commission knows what the report they ask for is not easy to obtain nor is the time overly long, Judge Rosa said. However, the commission has no alternative and clerks should remember that in many instances the tax situation is just as complicated to the commission as it is to the clerks. Taxes in this state have gone up considerably in the past few years, the judge said. He contended the biggest trouble with state taxes is the way laws have been jockeyed, some being fundamentally wrong and others purely nonsense. To prove his contention he went into a discussion of state utility laws showing how some utilities were assessed by local assessors and taxed under the general rate while others had to be assessed by the commission and the assessments allocated to the proper districts. Still others are taxed under a flat rate similar to that imposed on railroads.

DEPEND ON DISTRICTS Emphasizing his plea for greater cooperation, Judge Rosa told his audience that state assessments are dependent upon returns from the local districts and until all districts send in property assessment abstracts it is impossible for the state to go ahead with its work. He said that the law requires abstracts to be in by the fourth Monday in August and then expects the commission to be ready with its report by Sept. 1. The commission is now asking that the last date for filing abstracts be advanced to the second Monday in August. Judge Rosa believes it still will be hard for the commission to prepare its report by Sept. 1.

In his effort to make clear questionable points regarding utilities Judge Rosa used the electric company at Beloit as an example and quoted figures showing the difference in forms of taxation under the present laws and classifications of the organization. Before closing his address Judge Rosa again "read the riot act" to get better cooperation an assessment returns to the state. Mike Mack, chairman of the Outagamie board of supervisors, was asked to speak before Mr. Rosa, but he declined saying that he had been too busy with farm work to prepare an address. WOMAN IS AWARDED VERDICT OF $1,600 AGAINST KORNELY

Jurors Hold Realtor Should Return Money Invested With Him by Plaintiff

A jury in the upper branch of municipal court returned a verdict Thursday night awarding Katie Fritsch, Appleton, $1,600 in her suit for $1,500 and interest from F. A. Kornely, local real estate dealer. The case opened Wednesday morning and went to the jury about 4:30 Thursday afternoon. The verdict was returned at 10:30. Kornely said Friday morning when asked whether he intended to appeal that "he had nothing to say at this time."

Mrs. Fritsch alleged she purchased a mortgage from Kornely for $1,500 and that later he gave her $75, which she thought was interest on her mortgage. When she demanded the $1,500 a little later, he told her it had been used to buy stock in the Twin City Land company, Minneapolis, Minn.

Kornely claimed that Mrs. Fritsch had authorized him to sell the mortgage and purchase seven shares in the Minneapolis company at $25 each. He said the $75 he had given Mrs. Fritsch was the difference between the purchase price and $1,500.

This case originally was tried before Judge Fred V. Heinemann in February 1925, and the judge awarded judgment to Mrs. Fritsch. Kornely appealed on the ground that he was entitled to a jury trial and won in the supreme court. The case then was tried before a jury in the upper branch of municipal court, with Judge Theodore Berg, presiding, but the jury disagreed.

Mrs. Fritsch's present claim for $1,500 and interest was slightly more than $1,700 but the jury granted $1,600.

Morgan and Johns appeared for Mrs. Fritsch while Bradford and Bradford represented the defendant.

PRICE OF MILK CUT 1 CENT BY DEALERS

Price of pasturized milk in Appleton dropped 1 cent a bottle Wednesday morning, according to dealers. The former price of 11 cents a quart and 6 cents a pint has been changed to the old price of 10 cents a quart and 5 cents a pint. No reason was given by the dealers for the drop. They contend they still are paying farmers the highest prices since 1920 and that prices are higher this month than they were last.

HUGE GRAIN TANKS TOPPLED THURSDAY

Last Three Will Be Demolished Tuesday; Large Crowd Watches Work

Three of the huge tile tanks of the Wisconsin Malt and Grain company at the corner of N. Superior and W. Franklin-sts were toppled over Thursday afternoon, salvaging of the tile will be started at once. About 250 persons watched the procedure from the streets around the property.

Three tanks were cut away from the remaining six and the center one undermined about two feet from the bottom. Workmen then started undermining the end tanks and when sufficiently weakened they crashed to the ground.

Buildings in the immediate vicinity of the scene of the wrecking work were bolstered to prevent damage and boards placed in front of windows so they were not broken by flying masonry or by concussion. W. Franklin-ist from the corner of N. Appleton and N. Superior-sts was closed to traffic.

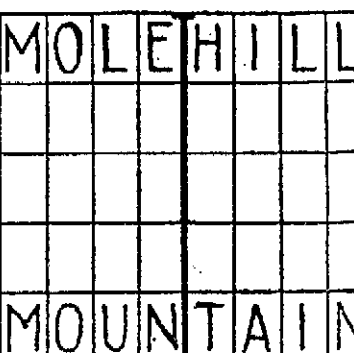

The tanks broke off a pole owned by the traction company but the damage was immediately repaired. Work of removing the debris from the street was completed a few minutes after the crash. Three more tanks will be toppled over Tuesday according to George J. Easton, superintendent for the wrecking company, and M. Eannell who has charge of the undermining operations.

ALLEGED GOVERNMENT GUARDIANSHIP OVER INDIANS IS REMOTE

William Skenadore Says U. S. Is Trying to Avoid Terms of Treaties

Charges that the national bureau of Indian affairs is seeking to release the guardianship of the Indians, in disregard of early treaties, will be aired at Oneida Saturday at a tribal conference with Oneida Indians from many parts of the country attending.

The history of the Oneida tribe, traced in terms of treaties with the government in an effort to show that the Indians have been defrauded, will be given by William Skenadore, chairman of the Indian committee.

The conference is constructed by some to be the outgrowth of the ousting of Henry Dextator family from their home on the reservation about 2 months ago for non-payment of taxes. Dextator at that time alleged that the land was taken from the Indian office and placed in the records of the Brown-co register of deeds without his knowledge.

Mr. Skenadore at the time of the Dextator ejection issued a statement declaring that the case was to be probed by the department of justice and that 40 other Indians were to protest to the government against the allotments. In explanation of the case Mr. Skenadore stated:

"At the expiration of the 25-year trust period a competency commission was sent there from the interior department before whom the Dextators and other Oneidas refused to apply for fee patents to their lands, which were not issued to them. It was a year later that a fee patent for the Dextator land was issued without his application and when the fee patent was tendered he refused to accept it."

who has been invited to attend, was asked by Skenadore to secure protection for him when he states the Indian's case.

SOCIETY

COUNCIL ASKED TO VOTE $150,000 MORE
TO BUILD SCHOOLS

Present Appropriation Is Insufficient, School Board Tells Aldermen

Neenah—An additional appropriation of $150,000 to erect a new school was asked by the board of education Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the board and city council. The additional appropriation, it was said, is necessary to complete the senior high school and vocational school according to plans and bids submitted. No action was taken by the council.

The original appropriation for the school program was $500,000 which was to include a high school, vocational school and fourth ward school. The latter building has been completed at a cost of more than $60,000, the estimate having been $40,000. The estimate on the other two buildings reached $500,000, without figuring the equipment and architect's fees. Excess of vocational room and department has been taken from the buildings, it was said.

Some aldermen were of the opinion the vocational building could be designed until the future, but this was said to be impossible because the design in that building, the gymnasium and vocational branches which are required in connection with high school courses also are to be contained in this unit.

FUMIGATION IS OUT BY RULE OF BADGER STATE HEALTH BOARD

Sterilizing Process Replaces Old Method in Killing Disease Germs

Madison—(P)—The boy or girl who was forced by fond parents to stand over the smoking candle of formaldehyde or sulphur in order that he or she might again become a member of organized society after suffering from measles, chicken pox, scarlet fever, or other disease that many youngsters have had, may now look back on the episode as wasted time.

Fumigation is out. The state board of health says so. Many a grown person will now recall how the health officer in cities or the doctor in the country years ago required them to rush headlong into a room, before the door of which a rug carpet had been laid to keep in the fumes and stay in that hellish chamber that a short time before had been their sick room, performing some sort of a sacrifice before the tiny smudge-dispensing altar that was expected to remove the stigma of communicable disease from their persons and clothing.

They will recall the fear of the fumes, the distended nostrils and the choking, sometime sobbing break for freedom after breathing just so much of the gas that seemingly would have made a world war soldier quake.

WITHDRAWAL RESOLUTION They may have made a resolution while in those rooms to, like Lincoln with the slaves, deal the fumigation evil a death blow if given the opportunity. Maybe it was some grown person who recalled these trying times of childhood who convinced the state government in 1923 to withdraw its stamp of approval on the fumigation process. At any rate it was withdrawn and the board of health is now campaigning for education of the people away from fumigation and toward disinfection.

Burning "candles" is no longer countenanced as a proper way of preventing further spread of contagion, the board officers said. They claim that the process is obsolete in the medical world as sacrificing a valuable farm animal to a pagan god would be in the religious world.

In a few remote cases families still believe in the mystic powers of the fumigant, the board reveals. They still believe and some state health departments still adhere to the belief that a bad odor will permeate the heavy clothing in a room, the bedclothes and the floors and cracks to kill the germs.

This is not a fact, says the board of the progressive state, recommending "concurrent" and "terminal" disinfection in place of the candle rite.

CORBETT TO ATTEND SECRETARY'S MEET

Local C. of C. Official Is Chairman of Group Meeting

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, will leave Friday or Saturday for Columbus, Ohio, where he will attend the thirteenth annual convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, familiarly known as the Nacos. Mr. Corbett has been honored by being named chairman of one of the group meetings of the convention. The selection of Mr. Corbett was made largely because of his active association for many years with chamber of commerce work, according to a report of the secretary of the association.

Experiences of this community in chamber activities will receive national consideration and publicity as a result of the meeting of the representatives of approximately 1,000 organizations. The program will present a limited number of major problems before commercial organizations of the country today. Only secretaries of outstanding qualifications have been selected to present these subjects and ample time has been allowed for discussion from the floor.

Industrial development, commercial aviation, agricultural development, commercial expansion, national publicity and advertising and technical problems dealing with chamber of commerce activities are among the main topics for consideration. All will be dealt with exhaustively by the secretaries.

The Honorable William F. McCracken, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce, Washington, D. C.; John Thider, manager of the civic development department of the chamber of commerce of the United States; the Hon. Charles Aubrey Eaton, United States Senator of New Jersey; and the Hon. A. V. Donahey, governor of Ohio, are among the principal speakers from outside of the secretaries themselves.

HEARL THROUGH OARS Saybrook, Conn. — Seamen along Long Island Sound have discovered a novel way to get their bearings when they are in small boats during thick weather. They put an oar in the water, glue their ear to the handle and can hear the submarine bell on the lightship several miles away.

Nurse Says Three Injections of Toxin-antitoxin Insures Immunity

Three injections of toxin-antitoxin given a week apart will insure protection from diphtheria for years and probably for life, according to Miss Mary Orblison, city school nurse.

The purpose of toxin antitoxin is to make the individual immune for a long period of time, perhaps a lifetime and is not primarily for the child who has already contracted the disease or for the one who has been exposed. Three doses usually are given and the Schick test applied about six months following the third injection to determine whether the person is actually immune.

Many of the teachers are submitting to the Schick test and those who are not immune are following it with the toxin-antitoxin injections as a preventative measure. Examination of the throats of pupils are being made each day by teachers in charge. Pupils having swollen or inflamed throats are excluded from school. Although no epidemic threatens, four cases of diphtheria have been reported. Hence, a preventative program is being carried out in the schools.

About 80 per cent of the recipients are made immune with three injections of toxin-antitoxin, according to surveys made by the state board of health. This organization recommends that all children from one to twelve years of age be given the three doses of toxin-antitoxin and later the Schick test. As adults are more immune, it is advised that the Schick test be used first to determine the immunity of the individual.

Besides protecting the individual the effect upon the community is beneficial, limiting the number of virulent cases.

SOVIETS CALL BREAK WITH ENGLAND MOVE OF POLITICAL PARTY

Pent-up Feelings of Masses
Are Appearing Against Hostile Policy

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of a series of articles on present-day conditions in Russia by Jerome Davis, a member of the faculty of the Yale University Divinity School, who has spent the summer in Russia as special correspondent for Appleton Post-Crescent and NEA Service. These articles are appearing daily.

BY JEROME DAVIS
Member of the Faculty, Yale University Divinity School

Moscow — Russia is still smarting from the sudden and catastrophic break in political relations with Great Britain. All the pent-up feelings of the masses against the hostile policy of the conservative party in England are now coming to the surface.

At the International Chamber of Commerce meeting at Stockholm, I talked with Sir Arthur Balfour of the Conservative party, and with Sir George Paish of the Liberal party, (formerly financial advisor to the treasury) and other representatives from England.

Here in Moscow I have talked with the foreign minister, Chicherin, with the minister of foreign and domestic trade, Mikoyan, and with members of the Russian trade delegation. While naturally the position of Sir Arthur Balfour differs, I found that the statements given me by the Russians were in the main strongly supported by Sir George Paish.

RUSSIAN VIEWPOINT

The Russian point of view is something like this: This final break is just one of the moves in a broad general policy against Soviet Russia which the Conservative government has followed consistently since it took the power. At first glance it would seem strange that England should want to break a profitable and growing trade. From 1920-26 Russia sold goods to England amounting to $430,000,000 and purchased from her $410,000,000 worth. In 1926 alone Russia sold goods to the value of $130,000,000 and purchased $60,000,000 worth, paying another $60,000,000 for credits, transport, insurance and other charges. In addition to this, trade arrangements had just been made the day before the break with the Midland bank for a credit of fifty million dollars for purchases in England.

In part this was sacrificed, the Russians believe, to help the Conservative party. Its leaders had been losing popularity steadily and must before long go to the country in a new election. If the Russian "bugaboo" could only be brought to the front again it would make an excellent campaign issue and increase the chances for a Conservative majority. Moreover, the loss of trade is politically minimized by the Conservative assertion that Russia can still trade with England. As a matter of fact, with the absence of recognition, Russia no longer has a standing in British law and hence does not feel her trade safe.

Another more powerful reason, according to Sir George Paish, is that England wants to bring pressure on Russia to prevent her opposing British interests in China, India and elsewhere. In every quarter of the world the Soviet government has never hesitated to use groups which were dissatisfied to obstruct British interests and trade. The moral support of Russia is behind the Nationalists of China whom England is opposing. This break in diplomatic relationships is a warning to Russia that if she continues to oppose Britain she will, as the Conservatives say, "be enclosed in a moral blockade." Sir George Paish believes the Conservatives wrong in this policy.

Even Premier Baldwin gives as a major cause of the break that Borodin in China is an official of the Soviet government. The evidence for this assertion is a wire which the British foreign office claims was sent to the Russian embassy in Peking. The Russian government affirms that no such telegram was ever sent.

ENGLAND FEARS UNION
To Russia it seems that England fear the very existence of the Soviet Union which gives full rights to subject nationalities and so is a threat to the British empire.

All of those with whom I have talked admit that in some respects the raid which was made by the British police against the Soviet Trade Delegation in England was a violation of the trade agreement.

Premier Baldwin says that the raid was made to secure a "highly confidential document" which had been stolen and photographed. If this is true it is curious that neither thief nor spy was prosecuted and no such document was found. Instead, when the British police broke into the Trade Delegation quarters the first thing they did was to search for the diplomatic bags and then for the cipher code.

Baldwin also makes much of a "secret" photostatic room in which the Russian trade delegation was said to be reproducing stolen documents. The fact is that there never was any secret about the photostatic room. Most large English firms follow the practice of reproducing tables of figures and signatures on agreements by a photostatic process. Russia simply endeavored to conform to English practice; in other countries she does not use this method.

Members of the Russian delegation declare that the strictest instructions prohibiting anyone from doing propaganda had been issued. Sixty-five per cent of the workers in the Arcos were English. There were at least as many conservatives among them as supporters of labor. These employees all knew of the photostatic room, many of them regularly entered it.

The fact that England did not find the document which she sought and that many leading conservatives openly voiced their opposition to the break, seems to indicate that England was engaged in a political maneuver.

The Russian position which I have so far given is strengthened by the fact that such a cautious and prominent British economist as Sir George Paish believes and stated to me that the raid was organized purely for political purposes.

The Russians now believe that there is a very real danger of war with some border state whom England even now may be "jockeying into shape." In their eyes Great Britain is trying to "build a new holy alliance which will attempt to crush Russia."

For some time Russia has been trying to block any such move by non-aggression agreements with all the border states except Rumania. The latter having unjustly seized Bessarabia, according to Russian belief, is in a class by herself. Such treaties have actually been concluded with Germany, Lithuania and Turkey.

While the unprejudiced observer

49 BIRTHS, 6 DEATHS IN CITY DURING SEPTEMBER

There were 49 births in Appleton during September as compared with only 6 deaths according to the monthly report of Dr. F. P. Doherty, city physician. There were 21 marriages. The city physician made eight calls at the police department; one at the city home; 10 at homes throughout the city under the poor department; investigated six contagious diseases; and made 12 calls at the poor department office.

can not help but feel that the threat of war is exaggerated and while it seems probable that the Communist Internationale has done some small and insignificant work in Great Britain, nevertheless, England herself has violated her own trade agreement.

It is admitted on all sides that the Russian trade unions did send over large sums of money to the British miners during the strike but it was done openly. Even American organizations sent over some small sums from the United States. England and Russia have rival policies and rival interests in China and in other countries. England wants Russia to call off her aid to these subject countries which threaten the world empire of Great Britain. The break may conceivably have a wholesome influence on some aspects of Russian policy. It will certainly tend to make her more friendly and cautious in antagonizing others among the great powers. It is hard to see how Great Britain will benefit. As Lloyd George said recently, "Most of the Russian trade is ended and propaganda, if there was propaganda against us, will be fanned and intensified in China and elsewhere."

The BENSON MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

THIS HAS HAPPENED
When Alvin Benson is murdered, Markham, remembering that his friend Vance is keenly interested in criminology, drops in on the latter on his way to Benson's house. Together they go to the scene of the crime. Benson has been shot while reading in a chair.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER III
(Friday, June 14, 9:30 A. M.)
Characters of the Story

PHILO VANCE — District attorney of New York County.
ALVIN H. BENSON — Well-known Wall Street broker and man-about-town, who was mysteriously murdered in his home.
MAJOR ANTHONY BENSON — Brother of the murdered man.
MRS. ANNA PLATZ — Housekeeper for Alvin Benson.
MURIEL S. CLAIR — A young singer.
CAPTAIN PHILIP LEACOCK — Miss St. Clair's fiancé.
LEANDER DUFFY — Intimate of Alvin Benson's.
MRS. PAULIA BANNING — A friend of Duffy's.
ELSIE HOFFMAN — Secretary of the firm of Benson and Benson.
COLONEL HIGGINS OSTRANDER — A retired army officer.
WILLIAM H. MORRIS — An alderman.
GEORGE G. STITT — Of the firm of Stitt and McCoy, Public Accountants.
MAURICE DINWIDDIE — Assistant District Attorney.
ERNEST HEATH — Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.
BURKE EMMERY — Detective of Homicide Bureau.
BEN HANLON — Commanding Officer of Detectives assigned to District Attorney's office.
PHILIPS TRACY — SPRINGER, HIGGINBOTHAM — Detectives assigned to District Attorney's office.
CAPTAIN CARL HAGEDORN — Fire arms expert.
DR. DOREMUS — Medical examiner.
FRANK SWACKER — Secretary to the District Attorney.
CURRIE — Vance's valet.
S. S. VAN DINE — The Narrator.

The district attorney and Heath walked up to the body, and stood regarding it.
"You see," Heath explained, "he was shot directly from the front. A pretty powerful shot, too; for the bullet passed through the head and struck the woodwork over there by the window." He pointed to a place on the wainscot a shot distance from the floor near the drape of the window nearest the hallway. "We found the expelled shell, and Captain Hagedorn's got the bullet." He turned to the fire-arms expert.
"How about it, Captain? Anything special?"
Hagedorn raised his head slowly, and gave Heath a myopic frown. Then after a few awkward movements he answered with unhurried precision:
"A 45 army bullet—Coit automatic."
"Any idea how close to Benson the gun was held?" asked Markham.
"Yes, sir, I have," Hagedorn replied, in his ponderous monotone. "Between five and six feet—probably."
Heath snorted.
"Probably," he repeated to Markham with good-natured contempt. "You can bank on it if the captain says so. . . . You see, sir, nothing smaller than a 44 or 45 will stop a man, and these steel capped army bullets go through a human skull like it was cheese. But in order to carry straight to the woodwork the gun had to be held pretty close, and as there aren't any powder marks on the face, it's a safe bet to take the captain's figures as to distance."
At this point he heard the front door open and close, and Dr. Doremus, the chief medical examiner, accompanied by his assistant, bustled in. He shook hands with Markham and Inspector O'Brien, and gave Heath a friendly salutation.
"Sorry I couldn't get here sooner," he apologized.
He was a nervous man with a heavily seamed face and the manner of a real-estate salesman.
"What have we got here?" he asked, in the same breath, making a wry face at the body in the chair.
"You tell us, Doc," retorted Heath.
Dr. Doremus approached the murdered man with a callous indifference indicative of a long process of hardening. He first inspected the face closely—he was, I imagine, looking for powder marks. Then he glanced at the bullet hole in the forehead and at the ragged wound in the back of the head. Next he moved the dead man's arm, bent the fingers, and pushed the head a little to the side. Having satisfied himself as to the state of rigor mortis, he turned to Heath.
"Can we get him on the stretcher there?"

No one answered, and after a slight pause the chief inspector spoke.
"We'd like a post-mortem report to-day, doctor."
"That's all right," Dr. Doremus answered, snapping shut his medical case and handing it to his assistant. "But go the body to the mortuary as soon as you can."
After a brief hand-shaking ceremony, he went on hurriedly.
Heath turned to the detective who had been standing by the table when he entered.
"Burke, you 'phone headquarters to call for the body—and tell 'em to get a move on. Then go back to the office and wait for me."
Burke saluted and disappeared.
Heath then addressed one of the two men who had been inspecting the grilles of the front windows.
"How about that ironwork, Snitkin?"
"No chance, Sergeant," was the answer. "Strong as a jail—both of 'em. Nobody never got in through those windows."
"Very good," Heath told him. "Now you two fellows chase along with Burke."
When they had gone the dapper man in the blue serge suit and derby, whose sphere of activity had seemed to be the fireplace, laid two cigar butts on the table.
"I found these under the gaslogs, Sergeant," he explained unenthusiastically. "Not much; but there's nothing else laying around."
"All right, Emery," Heath gave the butts a disgruntled look. "You needn't wait either. I'll see you at the office later."

Hagedorn came ponderously forward.
"I guess I'll be getting along, too," he rumbled. "But I'm going to keep this bullet a while. It's got some peculiar rifling marks on it. You don't want it specially, do you, Sergeant?"
Heath smiled tolerantly.
"What'll I do with it, Captain? You keep it. But don't you dare lose it."
"I won't lose it," Hagedorn assured him, with stolid seriousness, and, without so much as glance at either the district attorney or the chief inspector, he waddled from the room with a slightly rolling movement which suggested that of some huge amphibious mammal.
Vance, who was standing beside me near the door, turned and followed Hagedorn into the hall. The two stood talking in low tones for several minutes. Vance appeared to be asking questions, and although I was not close enough to hear their conversation, I caught several words and phrases—"trajectory," "muzzle velocity," "angle of fire," "impetus," "in-pact," "deflection," and the like—and wondered what on earth had prompted this strange interrogation.
As Vance was thanking Hagedorn for his information Inspector O'Brien entered the hall.
"Learning fast?" he asked, smiling patronizingly at Vance. Then, without waiting for a reply: "Come along, Captain; I'll drive you down town."

Markham heard him.

"Have you got room for Dinwiddie, too, Inspector?"

"Fifty, Mr. Markham."

"The three of them went out."

Vance and I were now left alone in the room with Heath and the district attorney, and as if by common impulse, we all settled ourselves in chairs, Vance taking one near the dining room door directly facing the chair in which Benson had been murdered.

I had been keenly interested in Vance's manner and actions from the moment of his arrival at the house. When he had first entered the room he had adjusted his monocle carefully—an act which, despite his air of passivity, I recognized as an indication of interest. When his mind was alert and he wished to take on external impressions quickly, he invariably brought out his monocle. He could see adequately enough without it, and his use of it, I had observed, was largely the result of an intellectual dictate. The added clarity of vision it gave him seemed subtly to affect his clarity of mind.

Wadham's 370

-the Year-Round Gasoline

Once more come the smart pep and get-away—the sharp response to the emergencies of traffic—the heartier power-pull of the older days.

370 is the lively gas — giving sharper punch to long-used motors — holding back further wear because it all explodes — or even if leakage past the pistons does occur, its light non-kerosenish body vaporizes instantly out of the heated crankcase instead of remaining to dilute your oil.

You are money ahead, comfort ahead, power ahead when you shake off the web of motor age with 370 — the "high that has made history".

BUDDY MESSENGER AND LON CHANEY IN "SHADOWS" TO BE SHOWN AT FISCHER'S APPLETON THEATRE SATURDAY.

STAGE And SCREEN

WORK IN "SHADOWS" SURPASSES ALL ELSE

Lon Chaney, the screen's greatest character actor who achieves the most remarkable triumph of his career as Yen Sin, the Chinaman, in the Preferred Picture, "Shadows," at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Saturday, says that the darkest days of his life came just before his greatest success.

"Picture acting is no profession for anyone who becomes easily discouraged," Chaney claims. "Like everything else one must find his proper groove in it to make good. I started a long way from the kind of work I am doing now. When I left vaudeville I naturally thought I was adapted for screen comedy but somehow the tricks which used to get me by on the stage were absolutely no good to me when I got in front of the camera.

"I was doing worse and worse every time until I had almost decided to return to my original work. I was finding it difficult to get a job in even the lowest kind of slapstick when a director whom I knew offered to take me on as a heavy in a picture he was casting for. I had never thought of doing anything of this sort but he consoled me with the beautiful thought that I couldn't possibly do any worse. When I finished that picture he kept me for the next and pretty soon I was getting offers from practically every studio in Hollywood. Then George Loane Tucker took me for 'The Miracle Man' and since then I have been doing character parts constantly, but none offered more interesting possibilities than my latest work in 'Shadows'—it is one of the best things I've ever done."

Although there are scores of capable Chinese actors available for such roles in the picture colony, B. P. Schulberg insisted that Chaney be engaged for the part of the aged laundryman in the Wilbur Daniel Steele prize story. So Chaney, having played a Chinese role with brilliant success in "Bits of Life," set about the task of devising a make-up that would visualize of the last strand of hair in Yen Sin's pigtail, the picturesque Oriental pictured by Steele.

But Chaney's secrets of the dressing table are not of the lightning variety so often shown on the vaudeville stage. A deft touch is required for the laying on of the wrinkles, eyebrows and slant of eyes and other details of the Yen Sin face—some of which, by the way, are too minute to be recorded by the camera, but all serving to add to the convincing characterization.

MERCHANTS WORK FOR HUGE LEGION FROLIC

Baby Show, Exhibits and Dances to Be Main Features of Exposition

More than three hundred merchants of Appleton are cooperating to make the five day harvest frolic and industrial display of Oney Johnston post No. 38, American Legion, a complete success, the Legionnaires announced Friday. The frolic will get under way next Tuesday night, Oct. 25, in the Armory.

The baby show, a feature of the frolic, probably will be the largest ever held in Appleton and is continuing to attract a large amount of attention. The contest starts Wednesday afternoon at the Armory.

With booths containing industrial displays, lining the sides of the large armory floor, and concessions located in the middle of the floor, a true carnival aspect will be lent the frolic. "Zachie" Moore's orchestra of Chicago will occupy a stage set against the northwest corner of the Armory, and there will be dancing for all. Prizes are to be given away every hour during the show.

A special attraction for opening night, a "harvest fantasy" will be presented on the armory stage, in which comedy and serious numbers will be presented. The entertainment features are to be changed each day. The doors will open every afternoon at 1:30 and every evening at 7 o'clock.

COACH SHIELDS "BENCHES" FIVE ORANGE GRID REGULARS

Reserves To Start Game With Sheboygan Gridmen Here Saturday Afternoon

SATURDAY GAMES
SHEBOYGAN AT APPLETON.
W. Green Bay at Manitowoc.
Fond du Lac at Marquette.
Oshkosh at E. Green Bay.

A lineup, composed largely of sophomores and juniors will greet Appleton high school football fans Saturday at Whiting field when Coach Joseph Childs' Orangemen battle Sheboygan high school, coached by Len "Jake" Stoll, former Lawrence college grid star, in a Valley conference battle. That is, the youthful lineup will start the game and if it can hold the Chairs well it probably will play the entire game.

Five regulars of the Orange eleven, many of whom have been showing poor and indifferent work in practice this week with the attitude of "I've got my position cinched, why work hard?" will hold down positions on the bench when the game is called and only an injury to a sophomore that will lay him up for two weeks keeps another man in the starting lineup. Four seniors will open the game for Appleton.

The regulars who will not start the game include Hartung, end; Kruse and Gerschow, tackles; Elias, guard; and Popp, halfback. All but Hartung, Kruse and Popp, however, are being held out of the game as a punishment for injuries taken last week or two and this was taken into consideration by the Orange coaches in deciding not to start them. Hartung has been playing poor and indifferent ball for some time. Johnston also was to start the game on the bench, but Peterson, his substitute, broke a blood vessel in his knee this week and he will be out of the game for two weeks. Except Elias, injured during the week, and Kruse, the other injured men were not in the practice until Thursday.

THE LINEUPS
The new starting lineup will have Redlin, a senior but a first year man here, and Schaefer, veteran junior at ends; Abraham and De Young, both first-year gridgers here, at tackles; Reetz, husky soph, and Kranhold, at guards; Rankin at center; Strutz at quarterback; Kunitz and Berg at halfbacks and Johnson at fullback. Berg is a soph, playing his first real high school game.

The team showed a much improved play Thursday afternoon over scrimmages of the last few days and the new backfield worked well with Berg finding in well. In the line Redlin and Reetz showed the best of the "new" men. The backfield showed plenty of drive and it was picking its holes and running hard in its old time style. Coach Shields has decided to make no attempt at a large score over Sheboygan, being content with just a victory, especially if he can use his sub most of the game to give his injured men a rest, and the sophs and juniors experience underfire for next year. A few of the "take it easy" veterans may also receive a jolt and decide to play better ball if the youngsters show their stuff.

TRIS SPEAKER MAY QUIT MAJOR LOOPS
Washington Club Has Placed Tris on Market With no Takers

Washington—Tris Speaker may continue his career in the majors with the season of 1928 opens but not with the Washington Nationals.

While the local club refuses to comment on the probability of Speaker passing to some other club or out of the majors, it is known that he has been offered to several other clubs in the American League, with no takers.

There are three reasons why Speaker isn't in demand. The first, of course, is the fancy salary he receives which must be paid by the club that gets him. Then there is the question of his physical condition. The fact that he has once been a manager also works against him as a mere player.

It is believed that Stanley Harris will be a better manager with Speaker elsewhere, since few managers adhere to the same policy in handling their clubs.

BLUE HARRIERS MEET MARQUETTE RUNNERS

Marquette's university cross country runners, who opened their 1927 season with a victory over North Central college at Naperville, Ill., met their first Milwaukee appearance Friday at 4 p. m., when they met a squad of A. C. Dunn's Lawrenses at the team of Appleton.

Marquette met Lawrence a year ago in a win, and hopes to repeat this year. The race will start at 4 p. m. at the Marquette stadium, but most of it will be run on the Soldier's home course. It is a four-mile race, including the Marquette team are Capt. McGraw, Davis, Wallisch, Morgan, Miller and Lynch.

Tickets for the Beloit-Lawrence college homecoming battle at Whiting field on Saturday, Oct. 29, already are on sale and they can be secured at the Basing Sport Shop, according to Fred Freize, faculty athletic manager. The tickets are selling at $1.50.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S FIGHT PROGRAM

Phil Zwiek, Kaukauna, vs. Joey Thomas, Oshkosh (10).
Tony Greylock, Milwaukee, vs. Rudy Britton, Chicago (8).
Johnny Busch, Sheboygan, vs. Andy Martin, Milwaukee (6).

BAY MANAGEMENT ARRANGES SEATS

Room for 1,500 "Standers" Sunday Beside Many Added Seats

Green Bay—Ticket taker, whose got an extra ticket. That is the game that is being played around here these days as a prelude to the appearance of Red Grange's Yankees against the Green Bay Packers at the City stadium on Sunday.

However, the football corporation is trying to solve the question. Seats to handle an even thousand have been borrowed from the West high school and they will be set up at the east end of the field. Extra benches are being rounded up and in this way Packer officials hope to seat all those that want to glimpse the aggregation of all-Americans over whom Red Grange rule supreme.

STANDING ROOM FOR 1,500
There will be standing room to take care of at least 1,500 more and from the war tickets have gone, it is safe to say that all football attendance records in state, outside of Madison will be smashed on Sunday.

The Packer ticket men have worked night and day to get all those that want to glimpse the aggregation of all-Americans over whom Red Grange rule supreme. And in the meantime, the Packers are working out every morning in preparation for the Grange game. The team came out of the grueling battle with the Cardinals in first class shape. Several of the players were banged pretty hard but it is a certainty that every one of the Big Bay Blues will be ready for action when called into the fray.

The Big Bay Blues realize the strength of their opponents and accordingly are going the limit to be right on edge. Capt. Lambear has put in several new plays this week and he will be ready to put the spring on the bag of tricks again whenever the opening is ripe.

TRAINING AT WHEATON
Wheaton, Ill.—Every morning at the ball park a flock of huskies composing the team of the New York Yankees of the National Professional Football league are going through the various things which make up the routine of a well drilled and well organized football team in preparation for their game on Sunday with the famous Green Bay Packers. The game is to be played at Green Bay.

As every one knows this town is the home of "Red" Grange, the famous hero of the gridiron who this season is captain of the Yankees and who is at the present time recuperating at the home of his father from the injury which he sustained last week in the game with the Chicago Bears. The team is now staying here until Saturday morning when they will go to Chicago and from there, to Green Bay. They expect to arrive in Green Bay early Saturday evening so as to get a good night's rest prior to the game.

Coach Ralph Scott is busy preparing for an emergency in case "Red" is not able to get into the game. He has "Wild Bill" Kelly all groomed to fill Grange's place and has prepared a number of plays designed especially for a man of Kelly's capabilities. Kelly himself is a great end runner as is Grange and a lot of the plays which were used when "Red" is in the game can also be used when Kelly plays the position. Coach Scott expressed himself as very well pleased the way his protégés have been progressing without Grange in the benches and is confident that they will be able to win over a win on the doughy Packers.

No definite word has come from the physician who is taking care of Grange as to whether or not he will be able to get into the game. However, it is known that the injury is rapidly on the way to recovery. The determination of "Red" is also adding greatly to the recovery and it would not be surprising if Grange was able to do his stuff on the gridiron at the Badger city.

LONDON TYPIST STARTS ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIM

Cape Gris Nez, France.—(AP)—Strong in his determination to swim the English channel in celebration of the victory of the British in the war, a London typist, Miss Mercedes F. G. Jones, typist, set out from here at 12.30 p. m.

Although the swim is for the English channel, the swimmer is not a native Englishman. She is a French girl who would make a fine swimmer. In 1926 she swam the English channel in 20 hours and 15 minutes. She is now 29 years of age and is a typist at the Badger city.

ROOSEVELT HIGHS WIN FIRST BATTLE IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

Coach Pickett's Warriors Open Season With 26-0 Triumph Over Wilsonites

STANDINGS

Roosevelt	1	0	1.000
McKinley	0	0	.000
Wilson	0	1	.000

Coach William Pickett's Roosevelt high school gridgers, 1926 Appleton junior high school champions, started on the right foot Thursday afternoon in their attempt to win their second successive junior high loop title. The Pickettmen stepped off with an easy victory over their chief rival, Wilson high, by a count of 26-0 in the first game of the junior conference this fall.

Roosevelt opened with a touchdown in the first five minutes when Holterman plunged over guard for 10 yards and the marker. Soon after Crane intercepted a Wilson pass and raced 45 yards for another marker. Zimmerman added two more in the second and fourth quarters on end runs and the teams fought evenly throughout the third quarter. Zimmerman scored two extra points with place kicks after the second and fourth touchdowns.

Wilson threatened twice, the result of the recovery of a fumbled Roosevelt punt in the third period, and an intercepted pass in the fourth, but in both instances lacked the punch to lug the ball the remaining few yards for the markers. Wilson's right end intercepted a pass on his own 30-yard line and pranced 65 yards before he was downed from behind by Sanders on the Roosevelt 15-yard line. Sanders' neat tackle saved a Wilson marker.

A feature of the game was that each team tried one pass and both were intercepted for long gains by the rival players. Carl Kunitz, 1926 Appleton high guard, refereed the game and Cooper, a high school teacher and former Oshkosh Normal player, umpired.

PURPLE GRIDDERS FAVORITES TO WIN

Illinois Eleven Puzzled as Northwestern Is Given Edge

Chicago.—(AP)—The Illinois eleven, quartered here to await the call to its first conference game of the season against Northwestern, was puzzled Friday by the sentiment which makes their opponents the favorites in Saturday's contest. Northwestern has won but one contest from the Illini since 1903.

The magicians of Pennsylvania who face Coach Stagg's university of Chicago team were handicapped by injuries which probably will keep Paul Scull and Mary Brill out of the backfield. Scull, smoothest of the backs in making yellow elbow pads resemble a football; Shober, quarter back; Vascolonis, fullback and Brill complete the quartet that has perfected the deceptive attack.

Perfect Indian summer weather has given the teams excellent chances to polish forward passing but a hint of rain by game time Saturday may affect the aerial play. The Wisconsin practice field has been too dry and hard for heavy workouts the past few days as the coaching staff was afraid of injuries. Dummy scrimmage made up the Badgers' preparations for Purdue and Ralph Welch, the Badger's quarterback, have three casualties among the first string men, Captain Cotton Wilcox, Leon Butten, end, and Tony Leichte, fullback.

Minnesota's starting lineup against the invading Iowans Saturday has been guarded closely, as both line and backfield have been shuffled around all week in the hope of giving "drive" to the powerful but cumbersome machine. The Iowans are bringing a strong line and a great assortment of aerial plays to the annual clash and have had two weeks to point for the game. Five games on the Western Conference schedule Saturday promise to attract capacity crowds. The Michigan-Ottawa "it is likely to set a new record for a stadium dedication with 55,000 customers. Governor Vic Donahey will be present to cheer Ohio State at Ann Arbor with five prospective gridiron stars named Donahey by his side.

Coach Wiley of Ohio has named his team. Huxton all fast and versatile ball carriers supported by Osmer, the plunging fullback. Earl Eby is in reserve for either type of play. Forward passing has been the principal diet of the Michigan squad all week.

With Notre Dame as the attraction, Indiana has an advance sale of nearly 25,000 for the Hoosier clash of the day. Coach Pat Page has built his reserve strength to match the Rockne extras. Chicago, Northwestern and Minnesota expect to play to crowds of 50,000.

College Captains

LORENZ OF RUTGERS
By NEA Service
New Brunswick, N. J.—Golden-haired Herbert "Burrhead" Lorenz of Rutgers, N. J., is having the Rutgers eleven this fall and he did last year, again is going to be star of the team.

When Lorenz is playing for Rutgers football, the 1927 varsity will be a good one. He is a fine target for punts and a good kicker.

PRACTICE ONLY

CHARLES BORAH

Because Coach Howard Jones needed a fast runner to practice his Southern California football team against, he inducted Charles Borah, famous sprint star, into service. Borah's uncanny speed gives the Trojan backs plenty of training. The sprinter will not be used in regular games because of a fear that his legs might be injured.

MANITOWOC HIGHS IN HARRIER RACE

1926 Valley Conference Champs Battle Strong Washington Squad

Manitowoc—Exhibiting their wares for the first time this season, the Manitowoc High School Cross-Country team will take on the strong Milwaukee-Washington High School harriers in a dual run this Saturday over the local course.

Coach Johnson has lost three men of his 1926 Conference champs by graduation. But two lettersmen have featured, Captain Harold Schmidt and John Maresch. Glander, a member of last year's squad is the only other man on the squad now who has any experience, though he is being pushed hard by such men as Aleksen, Brady, Polifka and others. Alexsen and Brady both members of last year's track team, specializing in distance runs, look like dependable scorers.

The local hill and dale squad have been in training for six weeks and should be in first class condition though the adverse weather conditions have impeded the training of the boys not a little. The run will be held during the halves of the Green Bay-West and Manitowoc football game. The local course is two miles long lying over both hilly and level ground. The local harriers are determined to keep a clean slate this season and hope to conquer their opponents.

FOUR BIG BATTLES ON EASTERN CARD

Yale vs Army, Harvard vs Dartmouth, Features of Program

New York.—(AP)—Four big battles and many others will be fought on eastern gridiron Saturday. At the Yale bowl, Yale will try to wipe away last season's 22-0 humiliation from the Army. Harvard will entertain Dartmouth. Caldwell and Maben, star Yale backs, have been nursing injuries but will start against the Army. Dartmouth has not lost a game this season. Harvard will afford the first real test for the Hawley array and Miles Lane who at present is the leading scorer in the east. The Harvard line may be shorn of the star left tackle, Clark, who was injured last week.

There is exceptional interest in Saturday's game at Ithaca. After 20 years Princeton is playing Cornell again. Cornell has an almost unstopable offense off tackle and poor defense against passes, in which Princeton shines.

Penn State, still jubilant over the sweeping triumph against Pennsylvania, travels Syracuse.

In the Metropolitan area, New York University meets Rutgers, a traditional foe.

Columbia takes on Williams of "Little Three" repute while Lafayette tangles against Washington and Jefferson Navy tussles with Duke and Colgate plays Wabash.

ELLEN DUNN ELECTED BOWLING LEAGUE HEAD

Miss Ellen Dunn was elected president of the Appleton City Women's Bowling association, which is affiliated with the state and national fair sex pin games, at a meeting held Thursday evening at the Arcade alley. Other officers elected were Miss Sylvia Roudshead, vice president; Miss L. A. Dunn, secretary; Miss Laura Boldt, treasurer.

She was injured and remained out for three weeks. When he returned, he was sent back to his flank position, where he again played occasionally. Lorenz weighs only 165 pounds but is a "big" in a fine target for punts and a good kicker.

OSHKOSH LEGION SPONSORS CLASSY BOXING PROGRAM

30 Rounds of Fighting in Next Legion Show; Hendricks of Appleton on Card

E. E. Fuller, matchmaker for the American Legion Boxing club at Oshkosh, has lined up the best boxing show sponsored by the legion since it has held the boxing license. The all star card of 30 rounds will see boxers in action ranging from featherweights to light heavyweights.

The heavyweight bout between Mike Mandell termed the "Tiger man of St. Paul" and Art Pertile, Hurley assassin, is a match long sought by promoters throughout the northwest. Both of these fighters are on the verge of stepping into national recognition as contenders for the light heavyweight championship, and in getting their signatures on the contract, Matchmaker Fuller has accomplished a real stroke of business for the entertainment of boxing fans throughout the entire state.

JOEY THOMAS AGAIN

The semi wind-up is of wind-up caliber as both boys signed by Fuller have appeared in win-ups in larger fighting centers than Oshkosh. Joey Thomas has gained the reputation in the several bouts he has had in this section of the state of being one of the cleverest and fastest featherweights in the game. His opponent Tiger Jack Wirth has done most of his fighting in and around Chicago. He is a Greek by birth, and is of the boring-in type of fighter throwing punches with either hand and at the same time rugged enough to take considerable punishment.

Washie Hendricks of Appleton is scheduled for a six-round bout with Bobby Lyons of St. Paul. Washie received a setback in his last performance in the Oshkosh ring at the hands of Jack Heinemann of Milwaukee. This is Washie's attempt at a comeback, and if he can hold Lyons even or beat him, he will be in a position to demand another match with Heinemann.

The opening bout will feature Jack Beal of Oshkosh slugger against Jack Newcomer from Neenah by the name of Stanley Mitchell. The Neenah boy has had eleven fights, and his record indicates all but one having been in his favor. His last two bouts have been won by the knock-out route. This is also true of Beal, and it is expected the opener will be one of those matches that stand the fans on their heads.

BELOIT GRIDDERS HOST TO KNOXMEN

Illinois Collegians Play at Gold Homecoming Saturday

Beloit.—(AP)—The newly-organized freshman band of Beloit college will provide one of the attractions of Homecoming this weekend, when the football team meets Knox.

Homecoming festivities started Friday night with a "pop" session and parade through the downtown streets. Saturday there is to be a meeting of the alumni league and another parade with floats and comic features, and the student body is to march directly to the field for the game.

Following banquets at fraternity houses and other places, there will be a bonfire, if Beloit is victorious, and the day will close with a reception, dance and entertainment in the gym. Inspection of the new $300,000 dormitories for male freshman will be a feature.

Still seeking their first Midwest conference victory since 1925, Beloit gridgers will end under a heavy schedule of training this week in preparation for the Homecoming event with Knox.

Beloit dropped to Monmouth last Saturday by a 25 to 0 score and as a result drastic changes are expected in the battle front. Weak ends and lack of weight at the guard posts have handicapped the Gold eleven. No remedy for these defects has yet been discovered. Against Monmouth Coach Earl Miller, giant guard, into the line and shifted Fessler from tackle to halfback but these changes failed to function as well as had been expected.

There is potential power in the Beloit backfield but the forward wall is not strong enough to give the ball carriers the needed protection. Captain Stevie Lawrence, flashy quarterback, tore off considerable yardage against Monmouth but on the average the Gold backs were dropped in their tracks when the local line opened wide.

Much of the drill this week will be devoted to developing a more rigid defense against Knox passes.

All of the Beloit athletes came through the Monmouth game in good shape with the exception of Bud Laabs, husky fullback, who injured an ankle.

CHAMP REISELT STILL LEADS IN CUE BATTLE

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—With their 24th pin ball match, more than half completed, Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, world's three-cushion billiard champion, Friday, 3-0 Gus Copius of Detroit by 24 points.

At the conclusion of third 6-point block Thursday night the champion had scored a total of 149 points against 141 for the challenger. Reisel played the best billiards of the match in the third block running out in 14 minutes.

The concluding blocks were scheduled for Friday afternoon and Friday night.

Skirts Too Short When They Cause Commotion, Washington Cop Says

Washington—How short may a lady wear her skirt before the law rightly interferes?

More important, how much knee must the skirt cover when the lady sits down?

These questions, which have so sorely perplexed authorities on good order and social etiquette, have been answered fearlessly and confidently by Patrolman J. B. Lawlor of the Washington Park Police.

Patrolman Lawlor's beat is in Lafayette Park, directly across the street from the White House.

IT'S VERY SIMPLE
"A policeman," announced Patrolman Lawlor, "should interfere when the shortness of the lady's skirt causes a commotion—and not before."

Already the sapient Lawlor, who is just a young fellow and not the hoary and learned sage one might expect, has been endorsed in his stand by Col. U. S. Grant III, the superintendent of Washington's parks and monuments.

Pretty little Mrs. Rose W. Keller was sitting on a bench in Franklin Square when the great issue confronted Patrolman Lawlor. After it was over, the Kellers—Mrs. Keller having been with his wife—complained to Col. Grant that Mrs. Keller had been sitting quite modestly, with no more than her knees exposed, when Lawlor came along and told Keller to "tell that woman to pull her dress down." The Kellers promptly defied arrest, but were not arrested. Grant promptly exonerated Lawlor and upheld his course.

HE'S NO REFORMER
"They seem to think I belong to some reform society," Lawlor said afterward. "Heck! I thought she was a school girl and tried to protect her, and all I got was a kick in the pants."

"Her skirt was six or seven inches above the knees. I supposed she was unaware of this, but then I noticed there were nearly a dozen men congregated opposite her."

"Her companion came back and I called him to one side. I asked him if the lady was his sister, his wife, his sweetheart, or just a friend, and he replied that he knew her."

"It's no great difference," I said, "but when you go back why don't you tell her she ought to re-arrange her clothes?"

"If she's violating the law, why don't you lock her up?" he demanded.

MORE SPECTATORS
"I waited ten minutes after he got back and nothing happened except that more men congregated."

"Finally I went over to the lady and said, 'The reason I called this gentleman over was to ask him to ask you to rearrange your clothing so as not to embarrass you." She said:

Patrolman Lawlor and pretty little Mrs. Keller. She wears the skirt that caused the commotion and therefore was too short, as Patrolman Lawlor saw it.

"Is there any law I'm violating?"

"And I said, 'Yes, I'm afraid there is.' And she said 'You'd better punch me then.' And I said, 'I will if you stay on that bench five seconds longer.' Then they got up and went away."

Lawlor resents the public impression in Washington that he's a kill-joy or a censor or an old gent sore on the younger generation.

"I've seen hundreds of women sitting in Lafayette Park showing their knees, and that's all right," said Patrolman Lawlor.

"I'm not old-fashioned. I can stand a pair of beautiful legs. I don't blame the men for looking. But we can't have commotions."

REPORT OF COUNTY SCHOOL HEAD SHOWS INTERESTING FACTS

Five New Schools in Past Year Cost $20,000; Repairs on 9 Others Cost $5,450

Many interesting facts on Outagamie county schools and community effort are found in the report by Supt. A. G. Meating, filed recently with the state department of public instruction. According to Mr. Meating's report five new rural schoolhouses were built in Outagamie-co during the past year at a total cost of $20,000. Nine other schoolhouses were altered at a total cost of $5,450. This is the state record for 1927, and puts Outagamie-co right to the front again.

There are 83 rural schools in the county with parent-teachers associations and 115 districts serve hot lunches, while 117 schools are equipped with outdoor play apparatus.

The valuation of rural schools, including equipment is $426,390 in Outagamie-co, the report states. The total value of all Outagamie-co school property is placed at about $553,390, urban and rural combined.

Taking Wisconsin as a whole there are signs of progress evident in many rural school districts, and 56 new rural school houses were built and 351 schoolhouses altered during the past year. There are 1,359 parent-teacher associations in the rural districts.

A number of district schools are en-in actual practice of child guidance. A text will be used as a nucleus, about which the members will construct the course.

The group will meet for instruction the first time on Tuesday evening, Nov. 1 in the assembly room of the vocational school.

GROUP TO INVESTIGATE CHILD TRAINING CLASS

Investigation of procedure and methods of conducting a class in child training to be offered at Appleton Vocational evening school will be the work of a committee recently appointed, according to vocational school authorities.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Fred Trease, Mrs. Herb Heilig, Mrs. George Nixon and Herb Heilig, director of Appleton Vocational school.

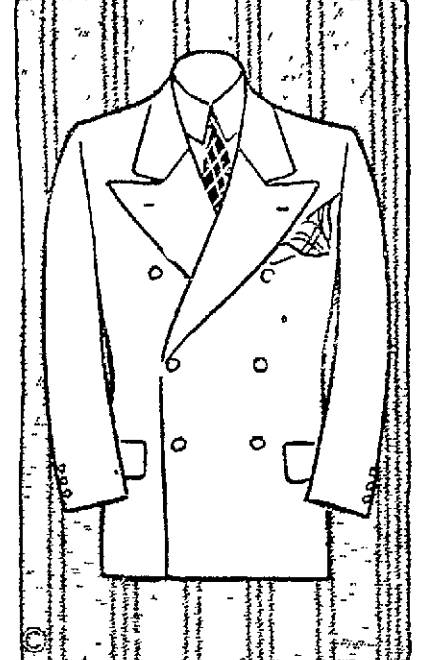

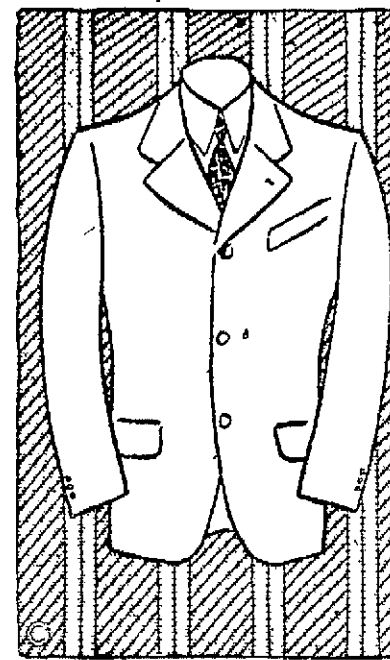

The class probably will be conducted as a study group, members pooling their experiences in observation and rolling this year in a better rural schools contest, with prizes offered by a weekly farm journal at Madison. County superintendents favor the aims of this contest, which scores both on the social and material side of the school improvement. Rural teachers and the county superintendent's office have all the particulars about it. Playground and other school equipment comprise the prizes offered.

Wisconsin's average annual expenditure for new rural schools is about $300,000, and the total state bill for alterations in the country schools is about $170,000.

OUTLINE TRAINING COURSE FOR SCOUTS

Clark Lays Plans for Instruction Course to Start Here Next Month

The training course for scout leaders and persons interested in scouting in the valley will begin Nov. 16 and continue for three weeks, according to the plans of Milo G. Clark, valley scout executive. The course will be held two nights each week and is designed to give a fundamental training in scout work to all persons desiring to become scout leaders.

Plans for each meeting as outlined by Mr. Clark will give the future leader an idea of how scout meetings should be conducted to accomplish the most and make a favorable impression on scouts.

The executive meeting have been divided into periods similar to regular scout meetings. At scout meetings time should be allowed scouts to get to the place of meetings and games, contests, or exhibitions that will acquaint the early arrivals with some phase of scouting should be taken up. The early period of the executive meeting will be used for a description of the course at the meeting of Nov. 16 the opening ceremonies will permit the members taking the course to become acquainted and organized for future work.

An address of welcome is scheduled for the first executive meeting to be followed by another address "Why Scouting" by a boy scout executive.

Regular patrol work will be discussed at all meetings for an hour to give future leaders an idea of what can be done to keep the patrols busy. Games, talks, contests, business and reports, assignments as regards the various patrols will form the major part of the discussions.

Inter-patrol activities to be held at troop meetings will be discussed after the patrol activities meetings. Games, contests and regular scout work will be given consideration on a competitive basis.

Methods of closing meetings so that boys will leave with some phase of scouting activity impressed in their minds will be discussed in the time devoted to closing ceremonies.

The "Ulica" operates on the principle of the well known warm air furnace. No heat is lost through radiation; all the efficiency of the heat generated is used to heat the cold air which is drawn in at the base and sides of the "Ulica." The "Ulica" cannot be compared with heaters which are intended to heat in only one spot. The "Ulica" through its system of heating air and circulating it, may be used for many purposes where other types of heaters would be of little value.

POSTAL CLERKS HAVE SPECIAL LANGUAGE IN DISCUSSING MAILS

Just as the "flapper" has her slang language and the printer his jargon for certain phases of work, the post office employees have a vocabulary all their own in discussing certain kinds of mail.

If you hear a post office clerk refer to a group of letters as "mixes" he is talking of those addressed to post offices not in the state or which bear incomplete addresses and are undeliverable.

Throw backs and mark ups are the letters which have wrong addresses as to streets, numbers or names and are handed from carrier to carrier as he tries to find the person to whom the article is addressed. In all letters are known to most people are undeliverable mail and the way it is probably the most common term used.

Appleton post office employees have one favorite name for undeliverable circular matter and magazines. These are called slugs at the local office. The name is a relic of early post office days and has stuck year after year.

Irvine, Ky.—John D. Rose, 85, came to town the other day for a little shopping. He bought a coffin, selected an iron fence to put around his grave, talked over terms with the undertaker and gave instructions as to how the funeral was to be carried out. Rose says he has no intention of dying soon but just wants to be prepared. The custom is almost universally followed by mountaineers.

TEXAS OYSTER SHELLS
HELP BEAUTIFY SHORE

Corpus Christi, Tex., (P)—September, the first "P" month and the beginning of the oyster harvesting season, finds hundreds of oyster fleets in the bays of south Texas, and with the opening of the season the city of Corpus Christi will continue a beautification program made possible by the use of oyster shells.

Some years ago a gulf storm struck this region. A three-mile causeway was swept into Nueces Bay, where some of the natural oyster beds are located. A new causeway was built, but the wreckage of the old one lay alongside the approach to the city and constituted an eyesore.

The oyster fleet, instead of dropping the shells back in the bay, began "husking" the oysters near the old wreckage, throwing the shells where the wreckage protruded from the water. Thus miniature islands of oyster shells were built across the bay.

Civic bodies eventually will sod the islands and plant shrubbery on them.

WOMAN SMOKER WINS
FROM MEN OPPONENTS

Berlin—(P)—Mia Katschke recently astounded fifty veteran male smokers by grabbing off first prize in a contest as to who could pull longest at the weed.

The competitive smoking match was staged at Luna Park, Berlin's Coney Island. Fifty male smokers had just received a Havana each and were about to demonstrate who could make his cigar last longest, when young Mia Katschke entered the stage, took the proffered cigar and found, after keeping the weed on fire for two hours and fifteen minutes, that she had established a new record and had been acclaimed Queen of Smokers. She was presented with 1,000 cigars.

GROCERIES

Kept-Fresh by McLaughlin

Fresh Every Few Days

The Trade-Mark—"Kept-Fresh by McLaughlin"—is an important buying guide to all who enjoy coffee for its fine aroma, perfect taste and real goodness.

And FRESH Coffee is as different from ordinary package coffee, as fresh milk and fresh vegetables are different from canned goods.

The moment perfectly roasted coffee is ground, it should be used. To pack it and store it on a grocer's shelf for any extended period of time, is sure to detract from its goodness.

McLaughlin supplies us with selected coffee before it is more than a few days out of the roaster. When a pound of McLAUGHLIN Coffee is ground on your order it is sure to have been KEPT-FRESH for your greater enjoyment.

Begin today to know from your own experience, the real goodness in McLAUGHLIN'S KEPT-FRESH COFFEE. A real surprise awaits you.

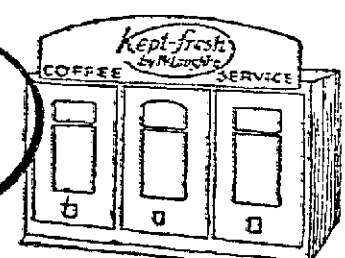

COFFEE FACTS

McLaughlin's "Kept-fresh" Coffee Service represents the newest step in coffee merchandising. Coffee roasted and ground any great length of time before using grows stale and rancid on the dealer's shelf and produces the flat, bitter beverage so often found.

"Kept-fresh" Coffees are only a few days from roaster to kitchen. They are bought and blended by experts, roasted, shipped in weekly lots to dealers, kept in a clean red metal case and ground as sold. Several blends are offered for your choice, of which "99 1/2", selling at forty-four cents a pound, is one. You get it with full original strength and fine flavor, and the cost of expensive packing is saved.

TOMATO BOUILLON

Dissolve cubes in 2 cups water and dilute soup with this

CRABMEAT PASTY

Brown 2 tablespoons chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter. Add 1/4 cup cream and crabmeat flaked. Stir carefully until heated through. Season to taste and put into baking dish. Cover with rich pastry and bake.

FRENCH PEAS

Heat can of peas in own liquor. Drain and shake over fire until dry. Add butter and season to taste. Add spray of mint just before serving.

JACK LOCKWILL, THE LION TAMER

"Lay-dees and gen-teel-men!" bellowed the ringmaster from the narrow platform between the doors of the cages. "You are about to witness a daring and astounding deed. Before your very eyes, the youngest lion tamer in the wor-r-rld will enter the cage of King Leo, the Man-killing Mon-ark of the Jungle! Jack Lockwill, the young lion tamer-er!" Jack ran up the steps.

Not far away, Camille, now wearing a long cloak over her riding trappings, was watching anxiously. She pressed her hands to her bosom to still her wildly beating heart.

As the ringmaster was about to admit Jack to Leo's cage, a clown, who looked like Loppard, ran up to the platform and pretended he wanted to go into the other cage.

"Get out of this, you fool!" cried the ringmaster. But the clown, chattering and laughing, yanked the door open. In an instant he had seized Jack with a powerful hand, flung him into the cage with Snarleyow, and slammed the door shut. In an instant the boy had recognized the clown as Red Saunders, made up to resemble Loppard. Behind the boy, a padlock clicked on the door!

NEARBY
TOWNSHEARTY GREETING
FOR NEENAH SQUADEntire Student Body Will Turn Out for Saturday's Football Game

Kaukauna — Neenah High school footballers will find a hearty reception awaiting them at Kaukauna on Saturday afternoon. The high school will turn out en masse to greet the Paper City eleven but most of the reception will take place on the football field when the Orange and Black will attempt to prove to the Neenahites that it is the best team in the conference. Kaukauna will battle desperately to keep its slate clean with the Northwestern Wisconsin Interscholastic conference championship in sight.

Kaukauna, West De Pere and New London are leading the conference. Not one of three teams has been defeated by either conference foe although all three teams' records are marred by ties.

A number of bleachers have been moved alongside the sidelines at the Kaukauna Ball park and a wire fence has been put up to keep the crowds off the field. Many women were disappointed at the Menasha game because there were no bleachers on the field and everyone had to stand.

Coach McAndrews sent his men through signal practice Thursday afternoon and then into the showers. Landreman was kicked in the back early in the week and his playing has not been up to par all week but he is expected to be in condition by Saturday. Luedke also suffered but bumps and will be used sparingly in Saturday's game. McAndrews has enough backs so that he can get along without Luedke for one game but Landreman is his only center.

The kickoff has been set for 2 o'clock.

NEXT STOCK FAIR IS TO BE HELD ON NOV. 12

Kaukauna — Another stock fair is scheduled for Saturday morning, Nov. 12. The fair will be sponsored by the Tri-County Pig Fair association.

It is possible that a program of entertainment will be arranged for the day but nothing definite will be done on a program for at least a week.

The fair is to be held at the Dodge at fair grounds.

CAST WORKS HARD FOR SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Kaukauna — Only a week is left before the senior class play "Kempy" is to be presented and Miss Margaret Wagner, head of the public speaking department of the high school, is rushing her work with the cast.

The new scenery has been completed and will add much to the beauty of the play. The scenery was constructed by the Kaukauna High school manual training department.

"Kempy" is to be presented on Friday evening, Oct. 25.

KAUKAUNA EXCITED
OVER ZWICK BATTLE

Kaukauna — Kaukauna's topic of interest in Thursday and again on Friday was the Zwick-Thomson fight scheduled for the Appleton armory on Friday evening.

Jacob Miller reported Thursday that nearly every seat in the Kaukauna section has been sold and the few remaining would be gone by fight time. Kaukauna is destined to be another deserted city on Friday night about 7 o'clock to nearly midnight.

CIGARET THROWN INTO
AWNING CAUSES FIRE

Kaukauna — Someone's careless flicking of a cigarette caused minor damage in a fire Thursday evening. A cigarette passing by Golden's Department store on Third-st. flicked a cigarette up into the air and it landed into the awning over a display window. Soon the awning was afire and a call was sent for the fire department. Damage amounted to about $30.

GOVERNMENT CANAL
WALL NEARLY DONE

Kaukauna — Work on the new canal wall constructed by the government between the dam and the first lock is nearing completion. The government dredges, the Omro and the Winneconne, are now engaged in widening the channel and filling in the wall with clay. Concrete is still being poured between the Wisconsin-ave bridge and the first lock.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna — Frank Hugenberg and Clem Hugenberg left Thursday evening for Lake Poygan to spend several days hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Hansen of Villa Grove, Ill. are spending a few days with Kaukauna friends.

Miss Corinne Watts of Antigo motored to this city Thursday to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Braun of Neenah are spending a few days in this city and vicinity with friends.

Harold Bean of Chicago was a business caller in Kaukauna Wednesday.

ISSUE REPORT CARDS

Kaukauna — Report cards were issued at Kaukauna High school on Wednesday noon. Parents were instructed to see that the cards got back to school by Monday morning.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Gordon Patton. His telephone numbers are 298 J and 10. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Patton.

LITTLE INTEREST IS SHOWN IN PIN SPORT

Kaukauna — Little interest is being shown in blowing in Kaukauna this fall despite the efforts of several individuals in the city to arouse enthusiasm.

Thursday night the first in Fox River Valley Bowling league match was scheduled with the Electric City squad and the Kaukauna Alleys as opponents. The match had to be postponed there were not enough bowlers for two teams.

What may be a final effort to organize a league will be started at the Knights of Columbus meeting on Monday evening when Henry Minkebe will attempt to organize a K. of C. league.

FINISH PAVING

Kaukauna — Joseph McCarthy Construction Co. has finished paving Quinney-ave from Crooks-ave to Seventh-st and has also finished the one block of concrete pavement on Dixon-st between Metoxen-ave and Quinney-ave. The company started pouring concrete on Main-ave Friday morning. After Main-ave is finished work will be started on Metoxen-ave.

USELESS

We were reminded that the open season for conventions is now on by a snatch of conversation we overheard in a hotel lobby recently. Two brother something-or-others had bumped into each other.

"Did you get a room all right?" asked one.

"What do I want with a room?" replied the other. "I'm only going to be here three days." — New York.

TURN HAIR DARK
WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

START THREE NIGHT
CLASSES AT KIMBERLY

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly — Three night classes were organized at a meeting held for that purpose Wednesday evening at the high school. The meeting was open to everyone of the village and the classes for which there was a high enough demand were organized. Classes in mathematics, manual arts and typing, will start next Tuesday evening, according to plans made Wednesday evening. All three classes will be held every week on Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. J. E. Roberts, principal, will be in charge of the mathematics class; George E. TO STOP BEAR SLAUGHTER
So great has been the killing of native bear in Australia during the present season that a movement has been started to preserve the animal. D. G. Stead, president of the Wild Life Preservation Society, says that 23,000 native bear skins were sold within a few days of the opening of the season, showing that in some cases the skins had been collected prior to the open season. He added that 40,000 skins had left Sydney on one ship, and that before the end of the season at least 300,000 native bears would have been killed. The Linnean Society of New South Wales has called the attention of the federal officials to the export of the skins of the animal without permit.

TO STOP BEAR SLAUGHTER
So great has been the killing of native bear in Australia during the present season that a movement has been started to preserve the animal. D. G. Stead, president of the Wild Life Preservation Society, says that 23,000 native bear skins were sold within a few days of the opening of the season, showing that in some cases the skins had been collected prior to the open season. He added that 40,000 skins had left Sydney on one ship, and that before the end of the season at least 300,000 native bears would have been killed. The Linnean Society of New South Wales has called the attention of the federal officials to the export of the skins of the animal without permit.

MOTHS BRING LAVENDER
VOGUE

Moths' invasion of the British Isles has brought a vogue for lavender just when a bumper supply of the fragrant plant made the price low. A new idea is the motor insect of lavender in many forms. A small version of the grownup doll is made in flat tube-like sections stuffed with lavender and suspended from a tape. Other dolls with life-like faces, but with arms and legs of silk wire, have bodies, skirts and feet of lavender-filled georgette. Perhaps the most attractive is a miniature "kewpie" doll, with Dutch cap and trousers of chiffon, and filled with the lavender blossom.

ISLAND BEING DESERTED
Gradual desertion of St. Kilda, an island belonging to Scotland, has caused a recent prediction that within a few years it may be uninhabited. Its cliffs rise sheer out of the deep water of the Atlantic, and there is only one landing place, which for eight months of the year is practically inaccessible. Seventy years ago there were 100 people there, today there are only 44. The men must take great risks on the towering cliffs in search of puffins and other sea birds, hanging over the ocean at a height of 1,000 feet, but consider it part of their daily life. The people speak Gaelic, and on Sunday every man, woman and child attend church.

BOY IS NUMBER WIZARD
O'Neill, Neb. — As a hobby for his spare time, Johnny Harbottle, 12-year old messenger boy, began memorizing license numbers of motor cars. Today he can tell the number of a car owned by any person in O'Neill. His teachers, however, admit that he's no wizard in arithmetic.

WILY LAND DEALER REFUNDS MONEY HE GOT ON SALE HERE

Salesman Nabbed Because He Dealt in Land Without State License

P. K. Panos, Seaside, Calif., was fined $25 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning when he pleaded guilty of selling real estate without a license. The complaint was made by Andrew Jimos, Appleton.

According to Jimos' story, Panos came to Appleton last Monday and began telling his countrymen of big profits to be made by investing in California real estate. He was a fluent talker and a good mixer. He was well recommended and so Jimos hearkened to his tale of "big money."

Finally Jimos purchased five lots at about $400 each in Seaside, Calif. Panos declared they were near a city of about 11,000 inhabitants and were rapidly increasing in value, it is reported.

Jimos gave a check for $835 as part payment for the lots, thinking he would have time to investigate before he had the check cashed. Panos, however, immediately called at Jimos' bank and had the check certified. Jimos became suspicious when he discovered that the check he received in return for his money did not include a description of the property he purchased. He asked the bank to stop payment on the check and found that it had been cashed and his order was too late.

Inquiry revealed that Panos did not have a license to sell real estate in Wisconsin and a warrant was procured out for his arrest. Deputy Sheriff Walter Scherck arrested Panos at Fond du Lac Thursday afternoon.

Word of Panos' arrest was sent to Manitowish, where, it was revealed, Panos had sold several lots. One Manitowish man, John Kase, appeared in Appleton Friday morning seeking the $160 he had given as partial payment for lots in Seaside.

Panos had considerable money and he returned the money he had received from Jimos and the Manitowish man and Judge Berg then imposed a minimum fine.

TRAPPER FINED FOR "JUMPING SEASON"

Shoeton Man Admits Illegal Possession of Muskrat Skins, Pays $50

A series of investigations conducted by Louis Jeske and Arthur Tie, state game wardens, during the past week, resulted in the arrest of George Speaker, Shoeton, on Thursday afternoon, for illegal possession of muskrat skins. Speaker pleaded guilty when arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg and was fined $50 and costs. The two wardens also raided the home of E. C. Beyer, Shoeton, Thursday, and reported they found several sets of snags lines. Beyer is to appear in court next Tuesday morning. Other raids conducted by the two men were fruitless.

Warden Jeske issued a warning Friday that he and his men will patrol the Wolf, Shoc and Embarras rivers during the next few days and all trappers will be arrested. He said the trapping season does not open until next Tuesday and any person caught trapping before that time will be prosecuted.

LEGISLATURE FAILS TO GIVE COUNTY AID

Changes Name of Mothers Pension Law but State Eschapes Extra Burden

The Mothers pension law was changed at the last session of the legislature and is now known as the Aid to Dependent Children law, according to Fred W. Heinemann, county judge, who just received a copy of laws passed at the last session. The legislature failed to appropriate the necessary funds to enable the state to pay its full share or one third of the pensions, as was originally intended, Judge Heinemann said.

This means that instead of receiving from $10,000 to $15,000 state aid, Outagamie-co receives less than $800. A determined effort was made during the last legislature to get the state to pay its share of the pensions but the counties were unsuccessful according to Judge Heinemann.

Another change in the laws providing that in counties where the county judge fails to appoint a board of child welfare, the county board has the power to do so. This will not effect Outagamie-co, however, because such a committee has assisted the county judge for many years and still is functioning.

The duties of child welfare board are to provide the best method of investigating the applications for pensions, to establish a basis for household expenses, to compute the amount of aid to be given, to help mothers expend such aid more economically and to keep an account of expenses. Members of the Outagamie-co welfare committee are: Anton Jansen, Peter Rademacher and David Hodgins.

BIG BILL CONTINUES WAR ON KING GEORGE

Appoints Sportsman to Delve into History Books of Public Library

Chicago — (P) — Mayor Thompson Friday trained his big guns on another sector in his war against "King George of England." He aimed at a "British lion" crouched upon the shelves of the Chicago Public library.

The first offensive in the campaign was directed toward removing William McAndrew from the superintendent of public schools because he was a "stool pigeon of King George." Superintendent McAndrew is now on trial before the school board, charged with insubordination.

The mayor has commissioned T. J. Hermann, well known sportsman, as his lieutenant in the latest drive. A long letter of instructions was sent to Mr. Hermann in which the mayor expressed the fear that the Chicago reading public is being served liberal doses of pro-British propaganda. Hermann was instructed to scrutinize every history book in the Chicago library and its branches for traces of the "British taint."

"My pre-election pledge is a sacred thing to me," wrote the mayor "I will not rest until I've purged this entire city of the poison that's being injected into the heart of American youth to culogize England at the expense of their own country."

to Teapot Dome, who reported that the situation as to possible drainage had been unchanged since the date of the executive order establishing the Wyoming Naval Oil reserve.

At the onset of the criminal conspiracy trial Friday the defense placed before the jury correspondence between Mr. Lafolette and the late Senator Robert M. Lafolette of Wisconsin, concerning the naval reserves.

LETTER TO LAFOLETTE

Fall's letter was dated April 12, 1922, three days after the lease was signed, and it gave the first information that Teapot Dome had passed from government possession. It spoke of what he thought was the danger of drainage and added that "It is not the purpose to sell oil, but simply to preserve oil above the ground, if it cannot be preserved under the ground."

The then secretary said also that military purposes were involved in the lease and that details could not be made public without the authority of the president, but he enclosed a memorandum giving the high spots in the lease signed by Sinclair.

It was after receipt of this letter that Senator Lafolette set in motion machinery of the senate, the operation of which resulted in the sensational investigation 1923-24.

As the correspondence was read and as Smith continued his testimony Fall appeared calmer than he did on Thursday when he startled attorneys and spectators by suddenly rising from his seat and addressing the court in an effort to have admitted testimony he said was vital to his defense.

DENIES DRAINAGE DANGER

Smith told the court that he sent a geologist, K. C. Heald, to Teapot Dome at the suggestion of Fall to investigate reported danger of drainage.

"Heald told Secretary Fall in my presence," said Dr. Smith "that there was no imminent danger of drainage in Teapot Dome."

Quoted by the court, Dr. Smith said Heald was sent to Teapot Dome because of a report made in September, 1921, by Carl H. Waggerman, a government geologist, that there was danger of drainage in Teapot Dome.

Heald, who now is staff geologist of the Gulf Oil Co., identified his report, which recommended against leasing the entire Teapot Dome reserve, but said there was some danger of drainage in the northern part, adjacent to the Salt Creek field.

Martin W. Littleton of New York, of counsel for Sinclair, took up the cross-examination for the first time in the trial. He developed that Waggerman was the geologist who "laid out" Teapot Dome before its withdrawal in 1915 by President Wilson.

"Were you asked to do any particular thing when you were sent out to Teapot Dome?" Littleton inquired.

"I was asked to prove or disprove Waggerman's map and report as to danger of drainage," Heald replied.

The defense attorney developed that Heald was on Teapot Dome only an hour, but that he failed to advise Fall of that fact or any circumstances on which he based his report.

Mrs. Brautigan was awarded the household goods, custody of two minor children and $30 a month alimony. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment, declaring in her complaint that her husband was a confirmed drunkard and was abusive and quarrelsome when under the influence of liquor.

The couple was married in Appleton, Nov. 17, 1897, and lived here since that time. They have seven children, three of whom are now, one 20 years, one 17, and the other two are 10 and 12 years of age.

RESORT OWNER HELD NOT LIABLE FOR DIVER'S DEATH

A jury in circuit court at Chilton Thursday found Howard Campbell, Appleton, owner of Waverly beach resort, not liable for damages in the death of Arthur Lawrence, who died from injuries when he dove off a pier into Lake Winnebago, on July 2, 1926, and was killed by a log.

Several months after the accident and his father sued $10,000 damages, claiming Campbell failed to give warning to bathers of the danger of diving from the pier. The jury found that want of ordinary care on the part of Lawrence contributed to his fatal injuries.

A. H. Krugmeier and Joseph Wilcox, attorneys, appeared for Mr. Campbell.

Good buying support came into the market soon after the opening and many of the call issues advanced 1/4 to 1/2 point. The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 23,400,000 shares.

GALLI-CURCI SAYS AMERICANS FAVOR MUSICAL CONCERTS

Noted Soprano to Appear in Recital Here on February 22

Concerts are a peculiarly American institution and make up a branch of the musical field in which America is most interested, according to Madame Amelia Galli-Curci, most popular coloratura soprano of the day, who will appear in Appleton Feb. 22 on her second tour in this section of the state. The concert will be sponsored by Appleton Women's club.

Madame Galli-Curci enjoys concert work especially in America as she declares she finds a refinement of mind and a sensitiveness to musical taste everywhere among American audiences. That this refinement of taste is required to enjoy an entire program of pure music is the opinion of the singer. "The Latin temper is not one to enjoy the recital; it is too unemotional for them. They require more action, more fire," she says.

APPEARED DURING WAR
The singer was given her first marked attention at her appearance in Madrid during the first year of the war. Madame Galli-Curci declares Spain is a difficult land to conquer, that a Spanish audience is the hardest of all to please. At the same time she maintains that no audience is quicker to discern and applaud good work than the Madrid Opera.

Madame Galli-Curci first visited the United States in 1916 planning to return to Spain. Mr. Campanini, director of the Chicago Opera, invited her to appear with his company before she went. Immediately after her rehearsal of "Rigoletto" she accepted a four-year contract with Campanini.

The famous soprano never learned singing, but just sang. She delights in ascertaining ways in which she can improve no matter how slight.

PITY THE MICE! THEY MUST EAT MONEY IN APPLETON RESTAURANT

Appleton mice are becoming mercenary! At least, that is what a local restaurant proprietor believes. All day his cash register had been bothering him. When he would press the keys to ring up 10 cents, $10 might appear or vice versa. Something was wrong but he couldn't find the trouble. He looked in the mechanism and looked beneath the machine and looked all over, in fact, but could not find the trouble. Finally, when he was preparing to close up for the night he pulled out the drawer of the register to take out the cash and very slowly and calmly, a small mouse walked out and then scurried quickly away. How it got inside the machine and where it was concealed, is a mystery to this proprietor and he is trying to find out just what attraction the money had for the little animal. In fact, it is reported, he has tried setting a trap for the mouse and has used as bait a dollar bill.
